Some Descriptive Pointers

Waimea—The Canyon, wonderful scenic masterpiece, easily accessible on horseback.

The Olokele Ditch, great engineering feat amid cliffs and crags of exquisite beauty, accessible by carriage. The Russian Fort, on the bluff overlooking the harbor, an interesting relic. The Hanapepe Falls, "Manawaiopuna," at the head of the Hanapepe canyon—carriages go half-way, thence by easy trail on horseback. The Barking Sands at Nohili, an interesting freak of nature, excellent roads for carriage.

The Marine Drive, Boating on the Wailua river.

The Pole-line Trail, most interesting ride or tramp into the tropical forests.

Hanalei,—The most wonderful coloring in the world. Hawaiian scenery includes all the colors of the rainbow, and the rainbow as well.

Splendid sea bathing. Driving and riding trips to Lumahaia beach surf. Wainiha power house and up the canyon. THREE LARGE HAENA caves. Hnakapiia, a most satisfactory tramp.

Lihue—The Wailua Falls, upper and lower, both repay a visit. Kilohana, the extinct crater—splendid panorama of plains, mountains and sea.

Household Hints

When Little Guests are no children Come in my home, I always keep on hand eating-bibs, little glasses with handles, and a little table-chair. You cannot imagine the little one's delight when they come to the table. To these may be added little plates, knives, forks, and spoons.

I also keep on hand, for their pleasure, a few simple toys. In this way I am always ready for little guests.

Dishwashing Tongs. Tin tongs, enable one to wash dishes without putting hands in water. The catch keeps it closed, holding the cloth firmly until released. You can use water as hot as you wish, and it is fine for washing fruit-jars, pitchers, separators, lamp-chimneys, etc. A little practice enables one to work as rapidly with it as without it. It is ten inches long, three-fourths inch wide at top, tapering toward points, and cut out in scallops at ends, to hold well. Two inches from top is the catch—a curved piece of tin two inches long, with a notch in it, which, when closed, slips down into the groove on the opposite side and holds securely in place.

There are countless other uses for it about the work, taking baked potatoes from the oven, removing soup-bones or meat from boiling liquid, lifting doughnuts or any fried cakes from boiling fat, and many other things that come up in housework.

It is simple and inexpensive, and could easily be made in a few moments by any tinsmith.

Hints About Washing Veils

Keep your white lace veils clean by letting them lay in strong lather of white soap and clean water for half an hour; squeeze and rinse in clear water. Then rinse twice in weak blue water.

Now pass the veil through water in which a very little raw starch has been dissolved; squeeze the water out, and stretch and pin it on a clean cloth, keeping the edges as straight as possible. Should the veil be edged with scallops, fasten each out with pins, so when it is dry the lacy part will be smooth. When almost dry, place under a thin cloth and iron with a warm iron. Roll over a bottle to keep it perfectly smooth when not in use.

Finger-Protector

To protect my hands when paring fruits or vegetables, I use this little device: Take unbleached muslin (I say unbleached because it is heavier than others;) shape the thumb and forefinger, using an old glove for a pattern, if necessary; make each strip long enough to reach the wrist in the back; sew up fingers; make wrist-band long enough to pass around wrist and button, join in finger-strips to band in same manner as you would put a band on an apron, making wrist-band double, and stitch. I make fingers double, so that juices will not soak through readily.

This is simply made and easily adjusted, and one protector will last a long time if washed out each time after using. I find it very useful.

Sam Mahelona is spending a short vacation with friends and relatives here.
